Connect the PC to the Display with a USB-C cable and switch the display on. If everything works you will see USB on the display and in the explorer on the PC you see a new USB drive. If you don't see the USB drive you have probably a charge-only cable. These cables have only charge wires but not the wires to communicate. If you want to test this, connect a other device like a phone with the cable an check if this is detected and seen by the PC.

- B Delete all files and folders from the Display (USB drive)
- 9 Copy all the folders from the update in 6 on the display.
- 10 Push the "Call Bootloader" button on the display

11 Only one file shows, push "Install"

Check that the required and new recourse versions are the same and if so press "Update Resources"

I The display should now restart with the new software installed. On this display is also the new pump controller software installed that needs to be transferred to the Hydraulic pump unit. For this read the manual "LevelM Pro pump update manual"
